Employee Management

Fight unfounded claims using Aesop

As the competitive scramble for jobs elevates, many employees are attempting to file for unemployment insurance with their organization. However, some of these same employees may have made themselves unavailable or turned down jobs your organization offered them! If your organization is faced with thousands of dollars in unmerited claims, Aesop can help.

Here are some ways that organizations across the country are using Aesop to fight and win unemployment claims:

- Avoid the need for an unemployment hearing
Empowered with data from Aesop, many organizations discover they can present enough evidence to prevent the claim from even going to an unemployment hearing.
- Access employee call history and responses
Aesop keeps records of all calls made to employees and their responses, including each time they didn't answer, hung up, or rejected the job.
- View Aesop web activity for your organization
Because Aesop is both phone and web-based, the ability to search for jobs is always available to your employees. You can access reports on how often your employee logged into Aesop to search for and accept jobs.
- Review employee settings
Aesop records employee preferences, so you can show if they limited their available times for calls or were overly selective about job types they were willing to accept.
- Eliminate piles of paperwork
Without an automated absence management system, manually tracking the data needed to fight claims is all but impossible. Aesop allows you to quickly find the data online, saving huge amounts of time and paperwork.

"As an attorney I have literally represented our clients at thousands of unemployment hearings over the years. The thing I like about Aesop is you get hard data, you get facts, you get evidence that can be entered into the record to support your unemployment case and dramatically increase your chances of winning."
